Dr. Thomas B. Lee
Secretary General
UNA/ROC

Dear Dr. Lee:

As a result of conversations with Cheng-ta Yang, Director with CCNAA in New York and members of Robinson Lake's New York office, we propose arranging the following activities around the Delegation's visit to New York, September 18-21.

1) Media Interviews

We will contact key media to arrange interviews with Delegation members selected by the Delegation. Our focus will include journalists with major newspapers and magazines, wire services, foreign press that covers the United Nations, and, if possible, select television and radio programs. We will schedule these interviews throughout the visit as the Delegation's schedule allows. We expect these interviews to provide important background information for journalists covering this and related issues. We will brief Delegation members before the interviews and provide any written material that you request.

2) Arrange a Forum

We will arrange a forum for the Delegation and prominent individuals interested in United Nations issues to discuss in a positive setting the argument for the Republic of China on Taiwan's membership in the United Nations. We will seek to find a sponsor such as a foreign affairs group or a well known individual to host this forum. If we can not secure an appropriate host, Robinson Lake Sawyer Miller can arrange an independent forum.

We recommend a mid-morning forum followed by lunch on either September 20 or 21. We will invite representatives from the United Nations community, academics, journalists and other opinion leaders. We would anticipate approximately 15-20 people, in addition to the Delegation, attending the discussion. We would also try to arrange individual interviews with the media present following the forum.

3) Meeting with United Nations Delegations

We will attempt to arrange for the entire Delegation to meet with United Nations representatives from leading countries, depending on availability, such as United Kingdom, Germany, France, Japan, India, Argentina, Brazil, Nigeria, South Africa. We will attempt to make these meetings at least at the Deputy Permanent Representative level. In addition, we will set up meetings with members of the Secretariat and major agencies of the United Nations. We have worked with the United Nations in the past and will use these relationships to set up meetings, which will depend on political circumstances over which we will of course have no influence.

As we understand, the Delegation's visit to Washington, D.C. on September 16 and 17 will consist of a conference and luncheon with the Heritage Foundation are already being arranged. If you would like, my firm can arrange individual interviews with journalists in Washington as the Delegation's schedule permits.

Our estimated budget cost for these activities is $15-$20,000, not including the expense of the forum luncheon or transportation.

If you agree to hire my firm Robinson Lake Sawyer Miller to make these arrangements and to compensate us based on the hours that will be involved, please sign this letter below and fax it back to me.

Your response agreeing to these recommendations is needed so that we can move forward as quickly as possible.

Sincerely,

Gary Wasserman
Senior Vice President
